

● MY MISSION STATEMENT:— Your mission is a general guideline on how you want to live your life. It is what you see as the meaning of life for you, the rules, and principles, and beliefs. It is a constitution, a foundation that will govern your actions and goals.

Writing your personal mission may be not a one-time action, you will need time to write it, re-write it, re-think it. You may return to it time to time.

● MY ROLES :— Before thinking of what to do, think of 'As Whom' would you do that — think of the Role. Structure your goals and actions by roles to have a better vision of 'Why?' and 'How?' do them. For example, in School you may be a Student or a Teacher, at Home — a Husband or a Wife, a Son or a Mother, e.t.c.

● MY INFLUENCE :— This helps you visualize your worries. Identify your concerns and influences. Concerns are what you worry, but can't do much about. Influences are things you can influence by being proactive. Identify your cycle of influence and cycle of concern.

Concentrate on what you can change, what you can influence, what you have control over.

● FIRST THINGS FIRST (Priorities) :— Distinguish between:

👉 Important and Urgent / Important but not Urgent.

👉 not Important but Urgent / not Important and not Urgent.

~~Not a priority~~
